

Institute
for Education

“Adapting to Disruption: Insights on the Latest Trends in Tech and Telecom”

Tuesday, June 19, 2018

The Honorable Abigail Slater gives Ambassador Karin Olofsdotter the pen that President Trump used to sign the 10 millionth patent in the Oval Office, June 19th, 2018.

H.E. Karin Olofsdotter, Ambassador of Sweden, welcomed the Institute for Education Media and Technology Roundtable to her stunning residence on a warm summer June evening.

A lively, dynamic discussion covered a number of the key issues facing not just technology policymakers, but anyone concerned with our economy: the future of wireless (5G), how our economy can adapt to an artificial intelligence and other advances that may reduce the number of jobs, and the future of the U.S.-China and U.S.-Europe relationships when it comes to innovation, intellectual property, and privacy.

Spotted: IFE Leadership, Jim Valentine, Coach Kathy Kemper, Marci Robinson, Chris Caine, Catherine Bohigian, Coco Pannell along with special guests, The Honorable Abigail Slater, The Honorable Grace Koh, and The Honorable Dr. R. David Edelman and H.E. Kirsti Kauppi, Ambassador of Finland; Craig Gordon; and Shahin Mafi.

Follow us on Social Media: @InstituteForEdu @CoachKemper