COACH KATHY KEMPER

Founder and CEO, Institute for Education

@CoachKemper @InstituteForEdu

Coach Kathy Kemper is CEO and Founder of the Institute for Education (IFE), a Washington D.C.-based nonprofit committed to engaging the global community to harness the power of soft diplomacy, data, and innovation.

In 2019, Kemper was recognized, alongside Jeff Bezos, as one of Washington Life Magazine's "Tech 25", a prestigious honor reserved for top technology innovators and disruptors. Extolled as "D.C.'s Networker-in-Chief" by U.S. News and World Report, Kemper regularly convenes timely salons, forums, intimate discussions and invitation-only gatherings that draw senior White House and Congressional leaders, distinguished ambassadors and diplomats, business executives, journalists and technology innovators for debate and discussion. Past speakers have included Supreme Court Justices, a Vice President, Senators, Ambassadors, Nobel laureates, Cabinet secretaries, U.S. Chief Technology Officers, CEOs, and more.

A former professional tennis player, Coach Kemper served as head Women's Tennis Coach at Georgetown University from 1978 to 1990, and coached Georgetown's No. 1 player to the NCAA National Women's Division II title in 1983. Coach has spent more than 40 years coaching tennis for Washington's power brokers – hitting the courts with Supreme Court Justices, kings, queens, and U.S. Secretaries of State through six administrations at the White House court, Senate court and Embassy courts.

Kemper has received awards and recognition from the Swedish, Chinese, and Japanese governments for her commitment to cross-cultural dialogue. In 2017, Three U.S. CTOs awarded the Challenge Coin to Coach Kemper for her bipartisan leadership in technology. A frequent op-ed writer and columnist, her work has been featured in The Hill, Roll Call, The Globalist, Huffington Post and USA Today.

DR. R. DAVID EDELMAN

Director of the IPRI Project on Technology, the Economy, & National Security Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT)

@R_D

Dr. R. David Edelman holds joint appointments at MIT's Computer Science & Artificial Intelligence Lab (CSAIL) and Center for International Studies (CIS); teaches in the department of Electrical Engineering & Computer Science; and leads research on the governance of artificial intelligence, the globalization of technology, and the national security dimensions of computing.

Prior to MIT, Edelman spent a decade as one of the government's pioneering officials at the intersection of technology, national security, and economic affairs. Through roles as a State Department diplomat and negotiator at the United Nations, Director for International Cyber Policy on the White House National Security Council, and Special Assistant to the President for Economic & Technology Policy, he shaped many of the U.S. government's foundational policies on issues as ranging from international cybersecurity to 5G, artificial intelligence to data privacy. He was also the chief architect of ConnectED, the Obama Administration's largest digital divide program, which delivered personalized learning capabilities to 30M+ American K-12 students and raised broadband access rates in public school districts from 33% to 99%.

His insights and analysis have appeared in print in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, Reuters, WIRED, Fast Company, and Fortune, and in broadcast on CNN, Bloomberg, CNBC, MSNBC, and NPR.

Dr. Edelman holds a B.A. from Yale, and a Master's and Doctorate in from Oxford University, where he was a Clarendon Scholar. His latest book, Rethinking Cyber Warfare, will be released by Oxford University Press later this year.
